Dear Owen,

Thanks for your comments. The Anglian Water consultation is run under different regulations to the Area Action Plan consultation and the government's regulations for plan-making mean we need names and addresses to be submitted with comments, for the auditing of the process. If you don't want to register on our website, you can fill in our response form (attached) and email it back to this email address, and we will enter it into the register of comments without creating an account for you. You can also email comments without a response form, but the form does make it easier to assign the comments to the section of the Area Action Plan to which they relate.

Could you let us know if you wish us to enter your comments about the Area Action Plan in your email, as a formal comment to the consultation, in which case can you confirm your consent to our privacy statement?

Kind regards,

Greater Cambridge Shared Planning Service

The consultation on the location of the new waste water treatment plant does not require me to create an account in order to comment. So why does this? I hate all these systems that insist on creating accounts, they are just trying to harvest my data and sell it to businesses. By insisting on an account creation, you have denied me the ability to comment online on the NEC Area Action Plan.

I work [REDACTED], it is a nice place to work. Your plans will destroy it. I have my car serviced at Barr-Tech off Cowley Road, your plans will force them to relocate. I live in [REDACTED] and value the fact that the area between Milton is not entirely built up. Your plans will join Milton to Cambridge in a high rise conurbation. I am opposed to all you plans, the area under discussion is fine as it is. Stop trying to make profit from everything.
